Should be able to...

- Understand where North America is in the world.
- Know some of the countries within North America.
- Describe some of the physical and human features of North America.
- Explain and understand the climate in some of the countries within this continent.
- Identify similarities and differences between North America and where we live.

Extra mile work

- Choose a country within North America, create a poster detailing as much information about this country as possible.
- Produce a holiday brochure about a chosen destination within North America.
- Research a fun North American event and host a themed afternoon/evening/hour at home with your family. This might include a meal, games, a dance etc.
- Make your very own Native American tipi in your home or garden – make sure it's big enough for you to go inside!
